IN SENATE-Friday, Feb. 22, 1839.

The following memorials were presented: By Mr. Robinson: From the Legislature of Illinois, instructing their Senators against voting for the adoption of the sub-treasury system; also, from the same source, asking that they use their influence to have the Constitution so amended as to restrict, after the year 1845, the Presidential term to four years.

By Mr. Nicholas: From thousands of citizens of Louisiana, praying that the naturalization laws might be so modified as to extend the tim required to become a citizen.

Monday, Feb. 25.

On motion of Mr. Robbins, the bill to provid for the management of the Smithsonian beques was taken up, and, after being opposed by Mesers. CALHOUN and NILES, and supported by Messrs. SEVIER, WALKER, and others, was finally laid o

The Senate refused to adopt an order for takin a recess, and fixed the hour of meeting hereafte at 10 o'clock.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. Mr. Adams asked leave to present the following resolutions, which were read for information : Resolved by the Schate and House of Repr sentatives, in Congress assembled, two-thirds both Houses concurring therein, 'That the follow ing amendments to the Constitution of the Unite States be proposed to the several States of the Union, which, when ratified by three-fourths the Legislatures of said States, shall become an be a part of the Constitution of the United States

1st. From and after the 4th day of July, 1842 there shall be, throughout the United States, to hereditary slavery; but on and after that day every child born within the United States, thei Territories or jurisdiction, shall be born free.

2d. With the exception of the Territory o Florida, there shall henceforth never be admitter into this Union any State, the Constitution of which shall tolerate within the same the existence of slavery.

3d. From and after the 4th of July, 1845, there shall be neither slavery nor slave trade at the seat of Government of the United States.

Objection having been made, Mr. A. proceeded to state that he had in his possession a petition, which he desired to present, and on which these resolutions were founded. It was a petition from John Jay and 43 most respeciable citizens of New York.

[Mr. A. was here interrupted by cries to order.

Mr. A. would not press this subject farther at this time.

Mr. Bouldin, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, reported, without amendment, Senate bill supplemental to the act granting certain city lots to the corporation of the Columbian College, for the purposes therein mentioned, approved 14th July, 1832. This bill was read a third time, and passed.

Mr. Tovery, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported, without amendment, Senate bill to prevent the abatement of suits and actions now pending, in which the Bank of Columbia, in Georgetown, may be a party; 'which bill was read the third time, and passed.

Also, Senate bill to abolish imprisonment for debt in certain cases, without amendment; which bill was read the third time, and passed.

Mr. McKay, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reperted a bill for the erection of certain military works on the Northeastern frontier of the United States.

Mr. PRATT. from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, made a report upon the subject of having the public buildings, hereafter to be erected, built other of marble or granite, instead of sandstone.

The facts set forth in the following communication from Dr. John Burdell, an eminent and successful Dentist of this city, are worthy of deliberate and carnest attention. That they are facts, no one who knows Dr. Burdell, as we know him, will hesitate for one moment to believe. [Ed. Whig.

To the Editor of the N. Y. Daily Whog:

Although almost every person in the community will readily admit that the use of tea tends to derange and prostrate the nervous energies of the system, yet, at the same time, such persons continue the use of it. So much has been said and written in reference to the deleterious effects of tea on mortal life, that I will not trouble you by repeating the statements of others, but will give you the result of my own experience. It is a law of the animal economy, that stimulants and excitants invariably result in a corresponding depression on absence of such stimulus or excitements-the nerves being the recipients of the injury in both cases.

During an extensive dental practice, I have had an opportunity of observing the condition of those of my patrons who were in the habit of drinking strong ten, and I have found that such persons have weak, irritable and sensitive nerves. In many cases I have been obliged to discontinue my operations, owing to the extreme delicacy and irritability of the nervous system. This led me to make some experiments, the result of which I now present to the public.

I took a pound of Young Hyson tea, and, after steeping it in soft water, boiled it down to half a pint-this I applied to such nerves in the teeth as required to be destroyed, in order to prevent sensibility there, and thus enable me to operate on the tooth without pain to the patient.

The experiment was completely successful, proving clearly to my mind the poisonous qualities of tea; as, heretofore, many destists have been in the practice of using arsenic for the same purpose-which determined me to try the effects of tea on animal life.

I then procured a rabbit, of about three months old, and kept it without food a sufficient length of time to leave the stomach empty, then gave it ten drops of the decoction, holding its head in a posi-tion to cause the fluid to enter the stomach. The animal appeared to be somewhat exhilarated for the space of three or four minutes, then laid down on its side and began mouning as if in great distres; and in about fificen minutes from the time of my administering the dose, its struggles ended in death, the limbs being distended and very stiff.

I also tried the effects of tea on a young cat. of the same age, after making another decoction similar to the first, but rather more powerful, as I boiled it down to a gill, which resulted in the the arrest of the murderer, same way, but in a shorter time, as the animal ceased to breathe in less than three minutes, although the dose was not as large as I gave the rabbit, being but eight drops. J. B-

I have lately heard of a native of New Hampshire who allows himself to be known in the streets of Parisas the "Foung Englishman" Being a son of that State. I blush to record the story of our degenerate countryman, whose dastartly conduct deserves to be rebuked.

What! shall the Pilgrim spirit quail Beneath the palace of St. Cloud. Where Franklin, with a giant voice, Proclaimed his birth to all, aloud? Shall it be said New England blood Runs sluggish from its parent flood?

Ashamed of firm old Hampshire's soil-Of hills that catch the morning sun-Of hardy sires, and for st homes-Of Stark, who fought at Bennington? Ashamed of these!—the reckless knave Deserves to fill a culprit's grave!

No! let the miscreant dare to press,
With recreant foot, his native shore,
And he shall hear, in thunder tones,
Like those which Erie's champions bore, The tale of shame breathed o'er the land, By lips which scorn the coward's brand.

Ashamed of Freedom! Let the earth Forget to claim her day and night— Let stars in rocking phalanx reel, And leave the heavens in wild affright; But never be it told again, There walks among the sons of men The traitor, born of Patriot race, Who dares disown his native place.

FREE BANKING .- The Philadelphia U. S. Gacette, in noticing the organization of another Banking Company under the free banking law of New York, asks: "Is there not danger of overdoing the matter, and thus change the freedom into licentiousness?

From the signs and temper of the times we are induced to think there is very great danger hat the free banking system-susceptible without doubt of usefulness to a certain degree-will be carried into an injurious extent both to the pankers themselves and to the community .i'o judge from the manner in which the Empire State has led off, in the free banking system, and from signs of similar contemplated action in everal other States, it seems more than likely hat the system will be abused for a season, rather than prudently used. But it is certain that with the just, proper and necessary guards against. ver action, and to secure responsibility, a full neasure of whatever evils may attend the abuse of the system, will fall upon the free bankers themselves, and this is as it should be.

The Barber's Pole, which is the symbol of the systery of shaving by a razor, has been used for many years. Its origin is thus related in Pulleyn's Etymological Compendium:

"The origin of the barber's pole is to be traced o the period when the barbers were also surgeons, or Barber Chirurgeons; none other in former times being allowed to 'let blood.' To cial Government would not sanction it. Whe assist this operation, it being necessary for the trm. When the pole was not in use, the tape that the Great Pacificator in the field, Gen. Scott. was tied to it that they both might be forthcomng when wanted. On a person coming to be oled, the tape was disengaged from the pole and bound round the arm, and the pole was put into done in sunny Georgia or in frozen Maine. the person's hand, after it was done, it was again tied on, and in this state the pole and the tape of the new banks under the new law, is rapidl were often hung at the door for a sign or notice getting under way. The stock is worth 104 an o passengers that they might there be bled. At ength, instead of hanging out the identical pole used in the operation, a pole was painted with strip s round it, in imitation of the real pole and is bandaging; and thus came the sign.'

WHAT WILL YOU HAVE?

After a day's work of calculation and copying. I was under the mortifying necessity of waiting an hour in the tap room of a low tavern, to secure the services of the mail guard, who was to carry a parcel for my employers. Amidst the smoke, the spitting, and the clatter of a crowd of inn haunters, I could not but find some subjects for reflection.

The presiding genius of the bar was a bloat-ed, carbuncled, whiskered young man, whom I sence of an hour he would return, and carry with had long known as the abandoned son of a de-him some of his instruments—thinking if he ceased friend. It might, with propriety, have been added by that committee, that these female abolition petitioners generally not only show great immodesty in putting on the breeches, but act out of character and out of their proper sphere, in attempting to make breaches on the institutions of tempting to make breaches on the institutions of the country.

their families, that are harrassed for years by the dreadful apprehensions of tuture want.

For such, a Life Insurance Company holds out relief gives reality to hope, and, by the small economy of a few dollars per month, puts the mind at ease, and affords the means of securing it for others.

The preliminaries for effecting Insurances are very simple, being merely a declaration of age, health, and other particulars set out in the forms of the office, together with a statement of the physician and friend of the applicant upon some of the same points, the blanks for which will be furnished by the agent in Washington city.

As the design of the company is profit on he one side and protection to the other, and its means at a system are directed to that end, it only requires a reciprocity of good taith, to produce the mutual result of strength to itself and security to its customers.
